TEE-DEE WANT ADS.--THE RAPID TRANSIT ROUTE BETWEEN BUYERS AND SELLERS

One of the attaches of the City Hall
Yes sent with a message to Farmer
Frans the other day
'I want you to get me the rainfall for the month, was the directions given him
by his superior officer.
'All rien.
'Then the attachment out in the lobby
Then the ottachment from a junitor.
"What for?" asked the junitor.
"To get last month's rainfall from Farmer Extrus."

"To get last month's rainfall, too?"
"Don't you want an umbrella, too?"
"No. I thank you want and got the rainfall, and he didn't need the bucket, either

A fellow came to town the other day. He had been in a little railroad accident, and while the crowd was standing around waiting for the engineer to put the engine back on the track several of them went over into an adjoining field and watched a weary plowman plodding his way.

way. The place looked desolate and wretchdly poor deed was a series of the patient passengers. This land looks poor. You people must be very bad off around here."
The weary plowman looked up with a faint smile on his face. He looked at the passenger in a sad way and look a the passenger in a sache bow of tobacco, the bow of tobacco, "Stranger, whar did you come from? "Stranger, whar did you come from? We aim't as poor as you think. We don't own this land." own this land.

Then the engine got on the track and the plodding plowman plodded on.

the plodding plowman plodded on.

In a certain club in a distant part of this State not far from South Boston, there is a crude locker, in which the various members of the club keep their distalbles.

On member has an old tin bread box. The other day he painted in large letter on the box: "BREAD."

Another joby member of the club, which is popularly known as the best people on earth, painted in a corner of the box "Rye."

That struck in popular humorous chord, and still another member painted this: "ORN."

Nobody got mad, and the tin bread box

SHORT TALK

No. 5.

If you had a megaphone that could be heard in every town in Virginia and North Carolina, what would you pay per minute to speak through it? Just think how you could bring the attractions of your place to the notice of the sweltering city dwellers, and what a harvest you would reap! Of course there is no such megaphono—but The Times-Dispatch will do the same work and it will work sixty minutes for every hour in the twenty-four. Besides, it only costs One Cent a Word. Try it and be convinced.
